GUIDE TO SUBVERSIVE Organizations and Publications

The Committee on Un-American Activities has compiled from various authentic sources the following list of organizations and publications which have been declared to be outright Communist or Communist-front enterprises.

The committee has ascertained that a Communist front is an organization or publication created or captured by the Communists to do the party's work in special fields. The Communist front is the greatest weapon of communism in the country today because subterfuge often makes it difficult to recognize its true Communist nature. The Communist front does not hesitate to camouflage its true purposes behind such moral and human appeals as "peace" and "civil rights" when it serves the Communist purpose and the aims of the Soviet Union. This guide can serve no better purpose than properly identifying such organizations.

By "outright" Communist enterprises, the committee refers to such organizations as the Communist Party, U. S. A., whose subservience to Soviet Russia and international communism cannot be disguised. An examination of the compilation will disclose relatively few organizations of this nature as compared with the hundreds of front organizations set up by the Communist Party.

In compiling this list of organizations and publications, the committee has relied upon the characterization which was made by the committee, agency, or authorized individual originally making the declaration concerning each of these.

This committee has conducted hearings dealing with some of these organizations. It has been found, however, that in the course of such hearings the officers and/or representatives of these organizations have resorted to the usual Communist tactic of refusing to answer pertinent questions concerning Communist connections and activities of these organizations and have refused to produce records which might prove or disprove such connections and activities.

Only the findings of official Government agencies—on Federal, State, and municipal levels—are included in this compilation. It includes citations by Attorneys General J. Howard McGrath, Tom Clark, and Francis Biddle; the congressional Committee on Un-American Activities and its predecessor, the Special Committee on Un-American Activities; the California Senate Committee on Un-American Activities; the Massachusetts House Committee on Un-American Activities; the Rapp-Coudert committee (Joint Legislative Committee To Investigate Procedures and Methods of Allocating State Moneys for Public School Purposes and Subversive Activities, New York State); a special subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations; the Wisconsin Committee on the Investigation of Charges of Communistic Teachings and Other Subversive Activities; the New York City Council committee investigating the Municipal Civil Service Commission; and the Pennsylvania Commonwealth Counsel.

PREFACE

NOTE.—The following historical sketch of Communist-front organizations, plus formulas for detecting them, is reprinted from a report issued by the Special Committee on Un American Activities on March 29, 1944:

Communist-front organizations are characterized by their common origin, the rigid conformity of these organizations to the Communist pattern, their interlocking personnel, and their methods generally used to deceive the American public. Being part of a conspiratorial movement, their essence is deception.

During the first few years of the Communist International, immediately following the stimulus of the Russian revolution, its international appeal was stridently revolutionary. As world economic conditions improved following the First World War, the international revolutionary movement began to wane. The Hungarian and German Communist revolutions failed and the Communist International began to lose strength. Hence it was deemed necessary to moderate the earlier revolutionary appeal, to adopt middle-of-the-road slogans, and to build so-called united-front organizations, as bridge and supporting organizations in the interest of the international Communist movement.

One of the leading organizers of these "innocent" organizations on an international scale was Willi Munzenberg, a prominent German Communist, whose organizing ability won him the sobriquet of the "Henry Ford of the Communist International." Munzenberg was engagingly frank in describing the real purpose of these organizations:

1. To arouse the interest of those millions of apathetic and indifferent workers * * * who simply have no ear for Communist propaganda. These people we wish to attract and arouse through new channels, by means of new ways.

2. Our sympathetic organizations should constitute bridges for the nonparty workers * * * who have not yet mustered the courage to take the final step and join the Communist Party, but who are nevertheless in sympathy with the Communist movement and are prepared to follow us part of the way.

3. By means of the mass organizations we wish to extend the Communist sphere of influence in itself.

4. The organizational linking up of the elements in sympathy with the Soviet Union and with the Communists. * * *

5. We must build up our own organizations in order to counteract the increasing efforts of the bourgeois and social-democratic parties in this respect, and

6. Through these sympathetic and mass organizations we should train the cadres of militants and officials of the Communist Party possessing organizational experience.

(Speech before the Sixth Congress of the Communist International in Moscow, July 20, 1928. International Press Correspondence, vol. 8, No. 42, Aug. 1, 1928, pp. 751, 752.)

TRANSMISSION BELTS

In his Problems of Leninism, a standard textbook and guide for Communists throughout the world, Joseph Stalin emphasized the need of these front or mass organizations which he called "transmission belts":

The proletariat needs these belts, these levers, and this guiding force [the Communist Party—Ed.] * * * Lastly we come to the party of the proletariat, the proletarian vanguard. Its strength lies in the fact that it attracts to its ranks the best elements of all the mass organizations of the proletariat, without exception, and to guide their activities toward a single end, that of the liberation of the proletariat.

Stalin quoted Lenin in support of his argument:

The dictatorship [of the proletariat] cannot be effectively realized without "belts" to transmit power from the vanguard [the Communist Party—Ed.] to the mass of the advanced class, and from this to the mass of those who labor (pp. 29, 30).

We cite the instructions of Otto Kuusinen, secretary of the Communist International, in his report at the Sixth Plenum [plenary session] of the Executive Committee of the Communist International:

The first part of our task is to build up, not only Communist organizations, but other organizations as well, above all mass organizations, sympathizing with our aims, and able to aid us for special purposes. * * * We must create a whole solar system of organizations and smaller committees around the Communist Party, so to speak, smaller organizations working actually under the influence of our party. (Quotations taken from the Communist, May 1931, pp. 409-423.)

The rise of Adolf Hitler to power created a new threat to the Soviet Union and to the international Communist movement. Hence the Seventh Congress of the Communist International, in 1935, gave an added impetus to the creation of front organizations under Communist initiative and leadership, the chief purpose of which was to protect and serve the Communist Party and the Soviet Union. The ability of the Communists to ensnare large numbers and influential individuals, to serve as decoys in operating these fronts, reached its high point following the Seventh Congress in 1935.

HOW COMMUNIST FRONTS ARE ESTABLISHED

The methods employed by the Communists in establishing and operating these front organizations, methods demonstrated by the various organizations herein cited, have been well summarized by a former high official of the Communist Party of the United States:

A front organization is organized by the Communist Party in the following fashion: First, a number of sympathizers who are close to the party and whom the party knows can be depended upon to carry out party orders, are gotten together and formed into a nucleus which issues a call for the organization of a particular front organization which the party wants to establish. And generally after that is done a program is drawn up by the party, which this provisional committee adopts. Then, on the basis of this provisional program, all kinds of individuals are canvassed to become sponsors of the organization, which is to be launched in the very near future. A provisional secretary is appointed before the organization is launched and in every instance in our day the secretary who was appointed was a member of the Communist Party. * * * And as president of the organization we would put up some prominent public figure who was willing to accept the presidency of the organization, generally making sure that, if that public figure was one who would not go along with the Communists, he was of such a type that he would be too busy to pay attention to the affairs of the organization. * * *

On the committee that would be drawn together, a sufficient number of Communists and Communist Party sympathizers, who would carry out party orders, was included, and out of this number a small executive committee was organized

* * * which carried on the affairs of the organization, so-called, and this small executive committee, with the secretary, really ran the organization. And this small committee and the secretary are the instruments of the Communist Party, with the result that when manifestos or decisions on campaigns are made, those campaigns are ordered by the Communist Party. (Hearings of the Special Committee on Un-American Activities, vol. 7, pp. 4716, 4717, 4718.)

MEMBERSHIP IN FRONT ORGANIZATIONS

In judging the individuals associated with Communist-front organizations, to determine the degree of their responsibility for its activities and their closeness to the Communist Party, one should be guided by consideration of the following categories of individuals included within them:

1. Members of the Communist Party who have openly avowed their affiliation.
2. Members of the Communist Party, not openly avowed, proven to be such on the basis of documentary or other proof.
3. Those accepting Communist Party discipline, either secret party members or outsiders who accept such discipline and instruction. This category may be recognized by the regularity with which it follows the line of the Communist Party, throughout all its variations, by the number of different front affiliations, by the posts they occupy in these front organizations, and by the fact that they retain their affiliation after the organization has been publicly exposed.
4. Those who have been attracted by the high-sounding aims of the front organization or organizations, by the prominence of its sponsors, or by a desire to be sociable. The judgment of such persons is certainly open to criticism just as much as if they aided in launching any other hoax.

DOES "YES" ANSWER THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS?

For the guidance of the American people in detecting Communist-front organizations, we present the following criteria:

1. Does the organization have Communist Party members or those trusted by the Communist Party, in its posts of real power—on its executive board, as secretary, organizer, educational director, editor, office staff?
2. Are meetings of the organization addressed by Communists or their trusted agents? Does its publication include articles by such persons?
3. Does the organization follow the Communist Party line?
4. Does the organization cooperate with campaigns, activities, publications, of the Communist Party or other front organizations?
5. Is the address of the organization in the same building with other front organizations or within the cooperating vicinity?
6. Does the organization cooperate with Communist-controlled unions?
7. Does the organization's official publication reflect the line of the Communist Party, publish articles by pro-Communists, advertise Communist activities, or those of other front organizations or of Communist vacation resorts?
8. Are questions injected into meetings or in official publications, which have more to do with the current policy of the Communist Party, than with the professed purposes of the organization?
9. Are funds kicked back directly or indirectly to the Communist Party or to other front organizations?
10. Is printing done at a Communist printing house?
11. Does the organization use entertainers associated with pro-Communist organizations or entertainments?
12. Does the organization receive favorable publicity in the Communist press?
13. Is the organization uniformly loyal to the Soviet Union?

CHANGES IN PARTY LINE

The line of the Communist Party on foreign policy is cited herewith. Its advocacy by an individual or organization, throughout all its variations, is a sound test of the loyalty and subservience of such an individual or organization to the Communist Party:

Prior to August 1935.—No distinction was made between Fascist and democratic governments. They were all capitalistic and had to be destroyed by a revolution and replaced by a proletarian dictatorship.

August 1935 to September 1939.—Adolf Hitler became a threat to the Soviet Union. Opposition to the Fascist governments. Support of collective security or a united front of the democracies and the Soviet Union against the Fascist nations.

September 1939 to June 21, 1941.—The period of the Stalin-Hitler pact. Opposition to the war as imperialist. Support of an isolationist position. Support of the peace policy of the Soviet Union. Demand that we pay attention to our own domestic problems first.

June 22, 1941, to 1944.—Hitler attacked the Soviet Union. Support of the * * * war against fascism. Demand for a second front to aid the struggle of the Soviet Union.

1945 to 1951.—Communist International revived as the Cominform. According to the Communist, the world is divided into two camps—the Socialist or the progressive camp as represented by the Soviet Union and its satellite states as against the imperialistic camp represented by the United States, which must be fought.

FRONT ORGANIZATIONS AS DESCRIBED BY J. EDGAR HOOVER AND FORMER ATTORNEY GENERAL FRANCIS BIDDLE

NOTE.—The following is an excerpt from the testimony of J. Edgar Hoover before the Committee on Un-American Activities on March 26, 1947:

For the most part, front organizations assumed the character of either a mass or membership organization or a paper organization. Both solicited and used names of prominent persons. Literally hundreds of groups and organizations have either been infiltrated or organized primarily to accomplish the purposes of promoting the interests of the Soviet Union in the United States, the promotion of Soviet war and peace aims, the exploitation of Negroes in the United States, work among foreign-language groups, and to secure a favorable viewpoint toward the Communists in domestic, political, social, and economic issues.

The first requisite for front organizations is an idealistic sounding title. Hundreds of such organizations have come into being and have gone out of existence when their true purposes have become known or exposed while others with high-sounding names are continually springing up.

* * * * *

There are easy tests to establish the real character of such organizations:

1. Does the group espouse the cause of Americanism or the cause of Soviet Russia?
2. Does the organization feature as speakers at its meetings known Communists, sympathizers, or fellow travelers?
3. Does the organization shift when the party line shifts?
4. Does the organization sponsor causes, campaigns, literature, petitions, or other activities sponsored by the party or other front organizations?
5. Is the organization used as a sounding board by or is it endorsed by Communist-controlled labor unions?
6. Does its literature follow the Communist line or is it printed by the Communist press?
7. Does the organization receive consistent favorable mention in Communist publications?
8. Does the organization present itself to be nonpartisan yet engage in political activities and consistently advocate causes favored by the Communists?
9. Does the organization denounce American and British foreign policy while always lauding Soviet policy?
10. Does the organization utilize Communist "double talk" by referring to Soviet-dominated countries as democracies, complaining that the United States is imperialistic and constantly denouncing monopoly-capital?

11. Have outstanding leaders in public life openly renounced affiliation with the organization?

12. Does the organization, if espousing liberal progressive causes, attract well-known honest patriotic liberals or does it denounce well-known liberals?

13. Does the organization have a consistent record of supporting the American viewpoint over the years?

14. Does the organization consider matters not directly related to its avowed purposes and objectives?

In his decision on the deportation of Harry Bridges, the Attorney General, Mr. Francis Biddle, included the following excellent description of Communist-front organizations:

Testimony on front organizations showed that they were represented to the public for some legitimate reform objective, but actually used by the Communist Party to carry on its activities pending the time when the Communists believe they can seize power through revolution.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE,
Washington, D. C., April 18, 1951.

Mr. HIRAM BINGHAM,
*Chairman, Loyalty Review Board,
Civil Service Commission,
Washington 25, D. C.*

DEAR MR. BINGHAM: Further reference is made to your letter of January 17, 1951, and to my reply of March 14, 1951, regarding the Alabama Peoples Educational Association which, as you have been advised, is one of the subdivisions of the Communist Political Association designated by the Attorney General as coming within the scope of section 3, part III, of Executive Order No. 9835.

As you know, the Communist Political Association is designated as a Communist organization, a subversive organization, and an organization which "seeks to alter the form of government of the United States by unconstitutional means." The Alabama Peoples Educational Association as a subdivision of the Communist Political Association falls within the same three categories of the Executive order as does the parent organization.

Respectfully,

JAMES M. MCINERNEY,
Assistant Attorney General (For the Attorney General).

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL,
Washington, D. C., April 25, 1951.

Mr. HIRAM BINGHAM,
*Chairman, Loyalty Review Board,
Civil Service Commission,
Washington 25, D. C.*

DEAR MR. BINGHAM: In his letter of April 21, 1949, to your predecessor, Mr. Richardson, Attorney General Clark designated the National Blue Star Mothers of America as a Fascist organization within the meaning of Executive Order No. 9835. As you may be aware, another organization not designated bears a similar title, namely, the Blue Star Mothers of America. In order to avoid any further confusion which may result in undue hardship for the Blue Star Mothers of America, it will be appreciated if in future releases containing the designation of organizations under Executive Order No. 9835 you follow the words "National Blue Star Mothers of America" with the following phrase in parentheses: "Not to be confused with the Blue Star Mothers of America organized in February 1942."

Sincerely,

J. HOWARD McGRATH,
Attorney General.

DELETIONS

CROATIAN FRATERNAL UNION

This organization was described as one whose "entire organization was taken over by the Communists at its quadrennial convention held in Pittsburgh in September 1947 * * *". The background of the 1947 convention of the CFU must be traced back to 1921 when Stephen Zinich, under the guise of a news reporter, steered the Communist cell at a Detroit convention." This description appeared in the report of the congressional Committee on Un-American Activities dealing with the American Slav Congress and associated organizations, House Report 1951, April 26, 1950 (originally released June 26, 1949). This committee is now in receipt of sworn affidavits from the officers of this organization disavowing membership or any association with the Communist Party. While it appears that the information originally reported concerning this organization was accurate, the organization appears to have repulsed the efforts of the Communist Party to dominate it.

The listing of this organization in the committee publication, Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications, March 3, 1951, edition, page 44, is being deleted.

SLOVENE NATIONAL BENEFIT SOCIETY

This organization was originally described by the congressional Committee on Un-American Activities as being among "the Communist-dominated organizations which have constituted a bulwark of financial support for the American Slav Congress." This description was contained in the committee's report on the American Slav Congress and Associated Organizations, House Report No. 1951, April 26, 1950 (originally released June 26, 1949).

On the basis of information which has been supplied by the Slovene National Benefit Society, the committee has conducted an additional investigation as to the true nature and purposes of this society.

This investigation disclosed that, while it was true that the Slovene National Benefit Society had financially assisted the American Slav Congress by purchasing advertising space in the publication Slavic American, the official organ of the American Slav Congress, this assistance, though misguided, was not done with the intent of assisting the American Slav Congress. Rather the Slovene National Benefit Society used the Slavic American as a medium to attract individuals to its fraternal insurance benefits.

The committee has satisfied itself that the Slovene National Benefit Society is not under Communist domination and since learning the true nature of the American Slav Congress it has ceased to furnish any aid, financial or otherwise, to the Congress or its affiliates.

The reference to the Slovene National Benefit Society in the committee publication Guide to Subversive Organizations and Publications, March 3, 1951, edition, page 98, is being amended to reflect these findings.
